As he sprang out of the door he was list in the Cuban army, said to him: shot by Boston Corbett almost in the same place Booth had shot Lincoln. His body was caught up and placed under an apple tree, and he was revived by the use of a stimulant long enough to marmur these words: "Tell mother that I died for my country."

The body was then placed in an ancient and decrepit market wagon, owned by an old colored man, and they started back to Washington with their prize. Big things are piling in on us just now. The State canvass for State officials is now going on and getting red hot and it takes nearly all our time to keep up with that and the war too. Maybe we will need another war governor and if we do Colonel Candler has had more experience in that line than some other folks.

Colonel Renfroe could take care of the negro convicts and march them to the front just like old Jee Brown did the 200 convicts in the penitentiary when Sherman came along. Governor Brown went down there with a wagon load of gray clothes and made them all guns and had them to elect their officers and then made them a speech and said
